

Past Modals of possibility

The Nazca Lines

Read the text and answer the question.

What theories do people have about their origins and purpose?

Read the text and answer the question.

What structure does the author use to talk about past possibilities? Find examples in the text.

“Nazca lines may have been part of a long tradition...”

To speculate or make a deduction about something that happened in the past we use:

The subject + modal + have + past participle

Must will might could may can't won't

Which of these modals are for something certain and which are for something possible?

must will	might could may	can't won't
certain	possible	certain

Paula wasn't in class. She _____ (have) a problem with her internet.

He _____ (be) someone important. I recognise his face from a history book.

The boss is in a terrible mood. The meeting _____ (go) well.

Rewrite the sentences using past modals.

1. Scientists are almost certain that the stones had a religious significance.

Scientists believe that the stones _____ a religious significance.

2. Scientists think that it's impossible that the stones came from a different island.

Scientists think that the stones _____ from a different island.

Rewrite the sentences using past modals.

3. It's possible that the stones were carved to resemble a famous leader of the tribe.

The stones _____ to resemble a famous leader of the tribe.

4. Some people believe that there's a possibility that the stones came from another planet.

Some people believe that the stones _____ from another planet.

Speculate with your partners about these two images.

