

Wanderlust

Created by James Gibbons

Learning Objective

To use defining and non-defining relative clauses to talk about wanderlust.

What activities can you see?

Surfing

Exploring the desert

Rock climbing

Mountain biking

Which of these activities have you tried?

Surfing

Exploring the desert

Rock climbing

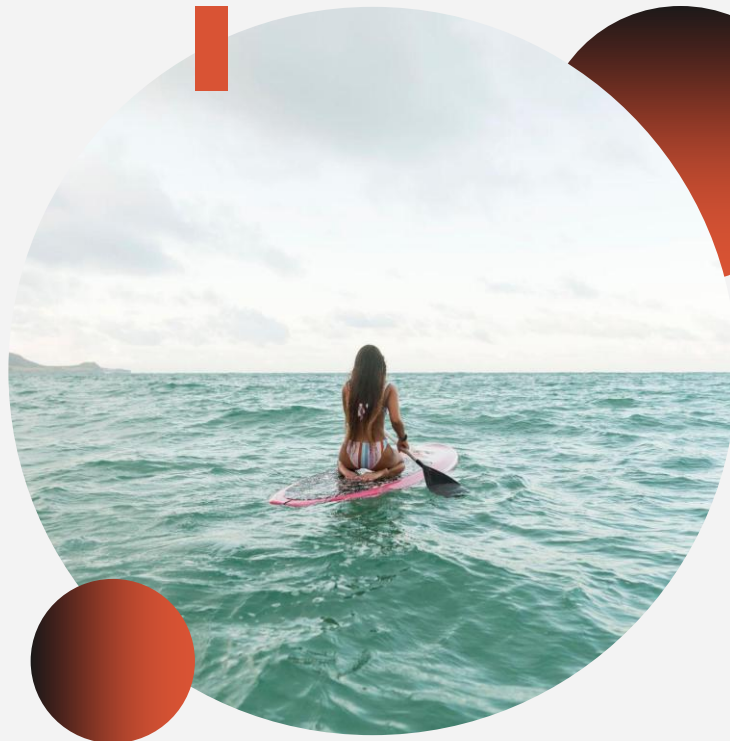

Mountain biking

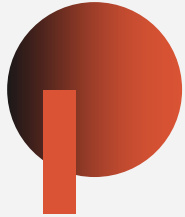

Which would you like to try? Why?

01

Vocabulary Check

Identify the meaning of the word in red.

Mia decided to stay at home rather than go to the party because she is a homebody.

Noun

01 Someone who likes staying home

02 Someone who loves adventure

03 Someone who travels a lot

Identify the meaning of the word in red.

She is a thrill seeker who loves bungee jumping and skydiving.

We can also say a risk taker.

01 People who always follow strict rules.

02 People who prefer to stay safe at all times.

03 People who take chances, even if there is danger or uncertainty.

Identify the meaning of the word in red.

Even in his old age, he remained wild at heart, always looking for new adventures.

Adjective

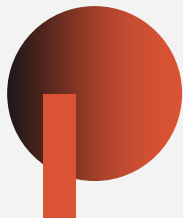

01 A person who follows every rule exactly.

02 Naturally adventurous, free-spirited, or rebellious.

03 Someone who dislikes nature and adventure.

Identify the meaning of the word in red.

She had a craving for ice cream on a hot day.

Noun: a craving
Verb : to crave

01 A memory

02 A strong dislike

03 A strong desire

Identify the meaning of the word in red.

After a stressful day at work, he went on a chocolate binge and ate five candy bars.

Verb: to binge

Noun: a binge

01 To eat or do something in large amounts in a short time.

02 To avoid eating or doing something for a long time.

03 To cook food slowly over low heat.

Let's talk!

1. Are you more of a thrill seeker or a homebody?
 2. What do you sometimes crave?
 3. Do you ever binge watch series? If so, which series?
 4. Describe someone you know who is wild at heart.
-
-

Watch the video and answer the questions.

1. What is Wanderlust according to the speaker?
2. Why do some people experience it more than others?
3. Why should we be adventurous according to the speaker?

A man wearing a blue jacket and a blue beanie is climbing a rock face. He is looking towards the camera with a slight smile. The background is a rugged, brown rock wall. A white rectangular box is overlaid on the lower half of the image, containing the text "When have you experienced wanderlust?". There are decorative orange geometric shapes in the corners: a checkered pattern in the top-left, a circle and a vertical bar in the top-right, a circle in the bottom-left, and a horizontal bar and a checkered pattern in the bottom-right.

When have you experienced
wanderlust?

Complete the text using the words below.

who whose that which when

The Science of Wanderlust

Wanderlust is a German word that/which refers to a yearning to travel and explore. This fairly unique concept, which does not exist in many languages, is not universally experienced. One recent theory is that there is a genetic component known as the DRD4-7R variant or “the wanderlust gene” responsible for this relentless curiosity and often risk-taking.

Dawn Maslar, who has studied the link between dopamine and the DRD4-7R gene, believes there is a definite correlation between this gene and the number of stamps in any given person’s passport. Maslar says around 20% of the world’s population live with this variant, but it is not evenly spread around the globe.

Yet, this is not the only explanation for this urge to go on adventures. Professor Galinsky, whose husband has the DRD4-7R variant, explained when you are in a relationship with someone who loves to travel, you are also exposed to the thrill of adventuring.

Defining relative clauses

Select the correct rule, A or B.

'Wanderlust is a German word that refers to a yearning to travel and explore.'

A. A defining relative clause gives essential information about a noun, making it clear who or what we are talking about.

B. A defining relative clause adds extra, non-essential information

Non-defining relative clauses

Select the correct rule, A or B.

“This fairly unique concept, which does not exist in many languages, is not universally experienced.”

A. A non-defining relative clause gives essential information about a noun, making it clear who or what we are talking about.

B. A non-defining relative clause adds extra, non-essential information

Relative clauses

Which sentence is the defining and which is the non-defining relative clause?

A. My sister, who lives in New York, works at the UN. Non-defining

A. I met a woman who works in the UN. Defining

Guess the wanderlust activity.

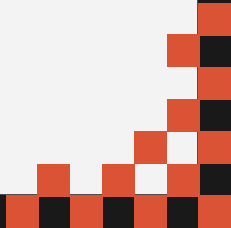

1. This is an activity that is usually done outside of the city.
2. It is an activity that thrill seekers might enjoy.
3. People who are afraid of heights probably wouldn't do it.
4. This activity, which involves a long piece of elasticated cord, is quite dangerous.

Bungee jumping

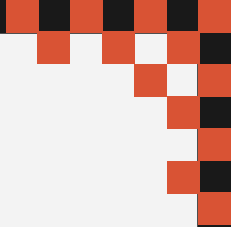

Your turn! In pairs work together to make a set of clues describing an activity related to wanderlust. Each sentence must include a relative clause. Use both defining and non-defining relative clauses.

- 1. This is an activity that is usually done outside of the city.*
 - 2. It is an activity that thrill seekers might enjoy.*
 - 3. People who are afraid of heights probably wouldn't do it.*
 - 4. This activity, which involves a long piece of elasticated cord, is quite dangerous.*
-
-

Share your clues with the class and we will try to guess the activity.

References

- BBC Ideas. (2020, January 3). Why do some people have wanderlust - and not others? [Video]. YouTube. <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=daF9R6dadH8>
-
- 